Group committees

Each group is led by a committee made up of group members. The committee is responsible for agreeing the activity plan for the group and ensuring it meets the objectives set by the Groups Committee, overseeing the running of its conferences/events and managing the group’s finance as well as a number of other tasks.

Who’s who?
Committees are made up of a Chair, Secretary and a Treasurer – referred to as the Officers, and up to 9 committee members. The size of a committee can vary from group to group depending on things such as level of activity, breadth of subject areas etc.

Chair
The Chair is responsible for the direction of group activities, is the main point of contact and may speak on behalf of the group. They also chair committee meetings and ensure that the group constitution and committee membership rules are adhered to. The Chair might also be approached by IOP staff to provide opinion on relevant topics. It should be noted that the chair is not expected to undertake or lead every activity the group undertakes, rather to ensure that all tasks are being handled by someone on the committee.

Secretary
The Secretary is responsible for setting up committee meetings, including booking a room, issuing invitations, drawing up an agenda in conjunction with the Chair, taking minutes and distributing action points. They are responsible for maintaining a list of committee members including the start/end dates of their terms of office and overall service. The Secretary is responsible for informing the Groups & Awards Officer when a call for new committee members when necessary. The secretary is also responsible for ensuring that the group complete an annual activity report each year for the Groups Committee. The Secretary also communicates requests on behalf of the group to the Groups & Awards Officer with regards to the communication of events or any other requests. The Secretary completes the annual report (by the end of January the following year) in consultation with the committee.

Treasurer
The Treasurer is responsible for monitoring the group’s spending. They authorise expenditure (invoices, expenses), request payments (e.g. BACs payments to prize winners), and complete the funding request form (by early September the preceding year) in consultation with the committee. The Treasurer might also give a brief financial report at the group AGM.

Ordinary Members/Early Career Physicist
An Ordinary Member may take on a variety of roles, and should include an early career physicist. Tasks may include having an active role in the planning and organisation of group meetings, a communication champion to foster collaborations with other groups or responsibility for social media for the group, or coordinate digital content such as writing news. An Ordinary Member may also help to grow the group membership. The Ordinary Members role varies and supports the work of the group officers.
Co-opted Members
Co-option should only be used in exceptional circumstances. Examples of reasons for co-option are, a member of another IOP group or other professional body (e.g. RSC, IPEM) for the purpose of programme co-ordination; the local organiser of a major group meeting or for the outgoing Chair to provide continuity in the event of a new Chair.

Co-option may not be used as a means of avoiding becoming an Institute member, circumventing the election process, or to extend the period of office served on the committee. Co-opted members may serve for a year at a time up to a maximum of three years in total. If the co-opted member is required for longer than a year, permission must be sought from the membership.

Period of office for officers and committee members
Committee members are elected for a term of 4 years. All IOP committee terms of office run officially from 1 October to 30 September.

After a total of 12 years’ service on a committee, an individual must stand down from the committee for at least 3 years before they can be elected to position on the same committee.

This 12 year period can be served in any combination of roles. For example a person who has served a 4 year term as Secretary and a 4 year term as Chair would only be eligible to serve their final 4 year term in an Ordinary Member post. A person can hold the same officer post twice, however the terms cannot be served consecutively, there must be a gap of at least two years between each term.

Ordinary Members may serve two terms consecutively, however they must stand for re-election at the end of their first term. Thereafter, they may not be re-elected as a committee member until the elapse of two years. It is encouraged that after their first/second term that committee member progress to an officer role, should one be available.

Elections
For more information on this, please see annual general meeting and committee elections.

Committee meetings
The Groups Committee require group committees to meet at least twice a year, with at least one of these meetings being a face-to-face meeting. At committee meetings, four members of the committee, at least one of whom must be an officer; present in person will constitute a quorum.

Face to face meetings
Committees can book a room for their meeting, free of change at the IOP; please be aware that demand for rooms can be high so you are advised to book well in advance. Any catering at meeting will be charged to the group budget. Meetings do not have to be held at IOP. As committee tend to have a geographically diverse committee, it may be more appropriate to meet outside of London; it is up to the committee to decide the most appropriate and cost effective location for them.
Video and teleconferencing
Groups are welcome to hold their committee meetings using video or telephone conference services. The IOP does provide systems for both which groups are welcome to use. Please get in touch with the Groups & Awards Officer in advance of the meeting if you require support with this.

Expenses
Committee members can reclaim expenses incurred in attending committee meetings and any other reasonable expense connected to committee business.

To submit a claim, please use the Members Claim Form. Please remember to include receipts for all items being claimed. Completed claim forms should be sent to the Treasurer or can be sent directly to the Groups & Awards Officer. Claims without receipts may be refused by Finance.

Committee members may not claim expenses for attending AGM, unless they are officers presenting reports; nor may they claim the cost of attend a conference (this includes registration fees). The IOP cannot reimburse members for any loss of earning whilst undertaking committee activities. More information on how claims are processed can be found under finances and payments.

Records
Groups are asked to keep records relating to committee business. Records should be transferred to succeeding officers on the committee. These can be sent to the Groups & Awards Officer when necessary. It is recommended that the following information be kept:

- Minutes of committee meetings
- Minutes of annual general meetings
- Newsletters

Problems
If, in the view of the group committee, a committee member has missed three consecutive committee meetings for no good reason, then the group committee may ask that person to stand down. Any concerns regarding non-attendance or behaviour deemed inappropriate by the rest of the committee may be referred to the Groups Committee. In all cases please contact the Groups & Awards Officer in the first instance for advice.
